HOW MUCH
DO YOU SUPPOSE WE MAKE?
A great lot of talk about middle-men's profits leads us to say this to you—
It has always been and will be always our policy to maintain prices that will give every customer benefit of our low cost of running this store.
The more we sell, the lower the cost per piece. Hence the lower the price to you.
A small fixed margin above operating expenses goes into our profits, but that margin is small. We try always to keep a class of goods worthy of your confidence in us, and to sell them at a price that merits that confidence.
Please come in—look around—compare.

Taffville Pastor and Choir at Shelter-in the Philippines.

The singing of an anthem and other hymns opened the afternoon service Sunday at the Sheltering Arms, conducted by Rev. D. B. MacLachlan and his choir. The choir sang the anthems and hymns. The subject of the sermon was "The Christian's Duty." The Rev. Mr. MacLachlan's address was taken from John 15: 7. Against the day of my burial, he said, "I have been here for out the ointment in its preciousness."
We have something just as precious to give—our love, our life, the marvelous powers of our soul. When you think of all He has done for us, and suffered, do you not want to give Him your whole heart, mind and soul?
We dedicate our lives to His service, O
Master!

The coming of the pastor and choir of the Sheltering Arms was especially appreciated and enjoyed by all at the Sheltering Arms. The three solos rendered most beautifully during the service by Miss Edith Thayer, Miss Helen and James Beardon, Miss Nellie Howie, accompanist, gave much pleasure. Violin solos were given by Miss MacLachlan, Miss Edith Thayer, for the shut-ins and were a treat to all

DISCUSSED TWO VOTING MACHINES

Citizens' Meeting Under Board of Trade Auspices—Agent Hamilton Speaks For The Empire and U. S. Standard—Vice-President Nickels Presents Claim of The American Voting Machine—Demonstrations Given.

Two types of voting machines, the Empire and the American, were on exhibition on Monday night before a public meeting held by the Board of Trade in the town hall, and the representatives of each machine were given opportunity to demonstrate and explain the merits and workings of their machines.

Their explanations were received with attention and were prevented by considerable questioning which indicated the live interest taken in the subject by the citizens present. There was an attendance of about 100.

President Hamilton spoke first. The two machines were set up in the front of the room, where they had been inspected before the meeting by those who arrived early. President Joseph D. Hamilton called the gathering to order just after 8 o'clock and reminded those present that this was not a meeting where action could be taken, but was meant more to assist the voters to determine whether they were to be deceived by the machine. Every man, woman, boy or girl, counts one, and only one, he said. From the first writing of the constitution of the United States, the protection of the ballot, has been uppermost in the minds of our legisla-tors, knowing that the fate of this republic depended upon the purity of the ballot.

Our lawmakers have spent so much time in planning and guarding the ballot that today it needs much study and care not to become entangled among the X's and circles.

We have gone by the use of a simple ballot. Some of us can remember when each party printed a simple ticket headed by their party name, which gave the name of the office and directly under it the name of the candidate. You could vote straight or you could paste a name over the one on the regular ticket. No booth then seemed necessary for a secret ballot.

The Empire machine employs a card, which is placed in a box, and the ballot is put in the box, then standing by the ballot box gives each of his men as they came up a folded ballot, which he put in the box. That was secret balloting—the only kind that I ever saw that was a perfect success. The voter himself did not know what he voted.

Every Vote Should Count.

A few things should be always kept in view. One is that every vote cast should be counted. Today that is not done. The late Massachusetts legislature, when it passed the law that over 15,000 votes were thrown out, not because they were cast dis-creetly, but because the men who voted them did not understand how the vote should be marked. They became entangled among the crosses and circles. These men were in effect disenfranchised. In our own town, the election, which caused the Higgins-Jodoin recount, there were nearly 300 votes cast which were not counted. It may have been your vote. It may have been mine, whose ever the votes were. They were thrown out. It is wrong, yet it is law. I am now speaking about that recount, one can not help but think the committee in charge of the recount were not doing their duty. They were not speaking about that recount, one can not help but think the committee in charge of the recount were not doing their duty. They were not speaking about that recount, one can not help but think the committee in charge of the recount were not doing their duty.

closing that while a number of cities and towns are now considering the purchase of the American voting machine, no machine has as yet been decided upon. However, we know our machine, and are willing to stand back of it, and in the event that your town votes favorably to purchasing our machine, we will sell the machine on the distinct agreement and put them in at your next election) that if they are not entirely satisfactory in every way they may be returned to us at our expense.

Mr. Nickels responded in answer to a question that as near as he could judge from the size of the machine wanted here the price would be about $250. This being a machine that would record 999 votes. Three such would be required for the first district.

He was called upon for a demonstration, having the machine moved into the hall so as to show how the wings made the ballot a secret one. He explained the points of the machine, and the only machine that prints a complete return of the vote, turning it out within two minutes after the ballot has been cast. This machine would record 999 votes. Three such would be required for the first district.

Upon a motion of Frank H. Smith both the speakers were given a vote of thanks, and the meeting then adjourned about 9:30 o'clock.

BURGLARS TOOK PLUNDER

AWAY IN A WAGON.

Robbed General Store at Waterford—Broke Out a Window Glass.

Burglars visited the general store of William Hendrickson in Waterford near the main power station of the East Lyme road, Saturday night, and took away a large quantity of goods, including a large quantity of grain, canned goods, cigars and other merchandise. Mr. Hendrickson was not able to state the exact amount of goods stolen, except that the quantity of grain was taken. The quantity of other articles he was unable to determine.

Entrance was effected through a large front window, the glass of which was broken by a stone weighing in the neighborhood of 25 pounds. The crash of breaking glass was heard about 11:10 o'clock by George Pease, who lives in a house on the corner of the street. Mr. Pease did not make an investigation. About an hour later he heard sounds of footsteps in the store, but did not give any alarm. It was evident that the burglars had driven to the store with a wagon in which the plunder was being carried. The driveway beside the store, leading to the grain room door, were the tracks of wheels made by a vehicle heavier than a delivery wagon. From the first of May in the last evening no trace had been found of the burglars, who it is thought were away in the direction of Saybrook.

The horse became frightened and ran into the shaft house, where he was killed. The horse was owned by James L. Hubbard. The machine was standing in front of the shaft house, and was being driven by Stark's horse. The horse broke its leg in various places. One of the men who was with the horse was injured. APPEALS FROM PROBATE.

Administrators of Hannah Shee's Estate Bring Suit—L. B. Brackett Sues Railroad.

Papers for two new suits have been filed with clerk Proctor of the superior court. They are:

Daniel Shee, administrator of the estate of Hannah Shee, late of Norwich, vs. Jeremiah Shee, appeal from probate. Judge Ayling in the probate court disallowed the administrator's claim because of a claim allowed against the estate by the administrator, the first bill for $1381 presented by Mary Shee and the other a claim of $350 for legal services. The administrator appeals.

Lawrence B. Brackett of Norwich brings suit against the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company for $1,000 damages arising from injury to a team of Mr. Brackett's horses which were struck by an engine on the crossing at Stoddard's Wharf. Good Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

Well filled houses greeted the strong bill which opened at the Auditorium Monday, and the attractive line of vaudeville and motion pictures met a most enthusiastic reception. The feature of the bill is the number presented by Billy Newkirk and the Evans girls, a happy combination of dancing and singing, which makes a decided hit. Maude presents an original comedy novelty just imported from Europe, and his work is of a pleasing nature.

REPORT MADE TO

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Secretary W. F. Bogue Favors Flaming Arc Lights and Changes Which Will Place from 65 to 70 in Heart of City.

Before the members of the executive committee of the court of common pleas on Monday evening, Supt. W. F. Bogue made his report concerning the investigation made with a committee from the Norwich Business Men's association in Massachusetts cities. He recommended in the way of improving the street lighting in the heart of the city the present arc and incandescent lights within the limits of Franklin, Willow, Broadway, Shetucket, Waterford and Main streets. The present Thames square, be replaced with flaming arc lights and that 25 additional flaming arc lights be placed, making a total of from 65 to 70. They also about double the candle power of the present lights.

There will be an additional $1,000 expense for the operation of these lights, but the operation will not be necessary for the coming year, since there remains a surplus in the lighting department of enough to cover that for the ensuing year. The expense of the new lights and the new installation will be inside of $4,000. Mr. Bogue stated. The recommendations were approved by the executive committee and will be acted upon by the council at its meeting Friday evening.

VIKING COMPANY DECLINES

BOARD OF TRADE OFFER

Albany Concern Does Not Agree to Move Here—Committee Has Matter in Hand Yet.

At the conclusion of the public meeting to consider voting the decision to accept the proposal which had been offered by the board of trade committee to remove here, the latter stated that a new lease for a year from the first of May in the present location was about to be signed. Frederic W. Cary also made a statement of some of the negotiations with the Viking company, in which it was shown that the company is a small but a promising one, employing nine hands at the present time, and making of electrical transformers and other kindred lines.

After some discussion, on motion of J. O. Smith, the matter was left for further treatment in the hands of the new industries committee.

SPRAYED TREES FOR

BROWN-TAIL MOTH

D. J. Caffrey Found 22 in Which the Pest Had Made Its Nests in Center of City.

In behalf of State Entomologist Britton, Kimball & Allen have sprayed 22 trees in the center of the city for the purpose of destroying the brown-tail moth which have been found in the city. It was through the efforts of J. E. Fanning that Mr. Britton sent D. J. Caffrey here to make an investigation and he found the moths on trees on property owned by Messrs. Fanning, Vars, Hanford, north of Willow street. He made a thorough search and found that these were the only ones that had been noticed, gave the orders for the spraying, which has been completed, and the moths are being kept the same as for that for killing the elm tree beetle.

There are indications that there will be a large number of the moths. They eat anything in the shape of trees except the Norway spruce and pine. They look like little caterpillars, except that their heads are smaller and even tighter. These were mostly found on apple and pear trees. The moths are poisonous and may be poisoned people by dropping on to their hands as they passed beneath the trees. Mr. Caffrey will return on Monday, the state being determined to keep them down if possible.

REALIZED NEARLY $100

FROM EASTERN CARNIVAL.

Vineyard Workers Well Rewarded by Proceeds from Recent Entertainment.

There was a good attendance at the missionary meeting of the Vineyard Workers in the Central Baptist church Monday evening. In the absence of the president, Mr. F. A. Bault, the vice president, Miss Alice Dean, occupied the chair.

A letter written in London from Mr. Bault, who is now on her way home, was heard with much interest, as was a communication from Mrs. P. C. Wright, who was in Wisconsin.

It was reported that the sum of $88.50 was realized from the recent Eastern Carnival conducted by the society. An interesting report on the semi-annual meeting of the Eastern branch of the Woman's American Foreign Missionary society, held on at Groton, was given by Miss Juliet Doane. Other pleasing reports were given by chairmen of the various committees.
